

PRIDE

Pride is a 2014 British film. Based on an incredible true story, It's the summer of 1984, Margaret Thatcher is in power and the National Union of Mineworkers is on strike, prompting a London-based group of gay and lesbian activists to raise money to support the strikers' families. Initially rebuffed by the Union, the group identifies a tiny mining village in Wales and sets off to make their donation in person. As the strike drags on, the two groups discover that standing together makes for the strongest union of all. PRIDE commemorates the hitherto unremarked but nevertheless remarkable alliance between Welsh miners and London lesbians and gay men.

A middle-aged man with grey hair, wearing a brown tweed suit jacket, a white shirt, and a dark tie, is laughing heartily. He is positioned in front of a window with white blinds. The background is a warm, yellowish wall.
